Celebrate Our Unique Cultural Values and Traditions by Communication Through Character Education.

Break through the barriers that hold you back. It's time to wake up and focus—the world is on the move. You can't catch up if you can't keep up.

For more than 40 years, Pepe has taught improvisational classes to students and professionals from all walks of life using a unique, fun and high energy hands-on approach.

“ Break through con coraje. Passion con Corazon para la educación. ”

Interactive games such as Machines, Mirrors and Emotional Symphony will coax even the most timid attendees out of their shell in a safe, non-judgmental environment. While exploring a range of topics from light comedy to real-life drama, Breakthrough Improv participants will gain understanding in:

- The importance of body language, voice and tone
- How effective communication can build self-confidence and self-esteem
- How cultural values and traditions can affect communication

Pepe's extraordinary improvisational workshops have inspired thousands of people over the years, including educators, students, sports teams, and corporate professionals.

“ Visualize – Exercise – Realize... See it – Be it – LIVE IT! ”

Each One of Us is an Artist in Our Own Lives

Celebrate Your Unique Culture through the Arts.

Through his mystical rhymes, Pepe takes you on a journey dating back to the pre-Columbian era that includes the legends from beyond. This universal stage propels him into a variety of characters from his past, present and future as he explores his Chicano experience and roots with split-second intensity.

Sometimes serious, sometimes funny, yet always entertaining, Pepe's one-man show is an eye-opening experience that will engage the audience and encourage them to celebrate their own unique cultures.

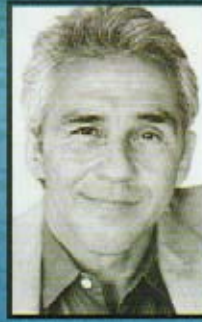

This one-hour performance includes a question and answer session for one hour at the end of the show. Pepe's one-man show, "El Ruco Chuco, Cholo Pachuco" is a colorful complement to theatre workshops, corporate events and school programs.

"I perform what I hope to be a bridge to greater understanding from culture to culture and compassion for the soul's ethnic journey because we really are all members of the same American family."

ABOUT PEPE SERNA:

Veteran actor and Master Teacher Pepe Serna has appeared in more than 100 feature films and 300 television shows. Memorable films include "American Me" and the "The Ballad of Gregorio Cortez", with Edward James Olmos, "The Rookie" with Clint Eastwood and "Carwash". Recently, Serna played the lead role of Reno Rivera in the film, "Double Tap" and starred in the controversial "Kingpin" on NBC. Serna is best known for his role as Angel in "Scarface" with Al Pacino.

Serna is also an accomplished artist, who began painting with the encouragement of his wife Diane, whom he met in 1969. His paintings reflect the vibrant and tropical colors of Mexico, and his artwork hangs in galleries and in the homes of art aficionados throughout the Southwest. He was recently commissioned by the Los Angeles Annenberg Metropolitan Project and the Mark Taper Foundation to paint an inspirational canvas on the subject of reading. It was turned into a poster and given to students in the Los Angeles Unified School District.

A native of Corpus Christi, Texas, Serna resides in Newport Beach, California with his wife Diane, whom he calls both his critical eye and his inspiration.
